

The Egyptian Hepato-Pancreato-Biliary Society (EHPB)

Founded since 1995

The board of the society represents many important major medical centers in Egypt:

- Assiut University (Upper Egypt)
- Mansoura University (Nile Delta)
- National Liver Institute (Nile Delta)
- TBRI (Cairo)

The society held 14 International Annual Congresses along the past 15 years.

Many International Societies collaborated in our last International Medical Activities.

The attendants in each congress exceeded the number of 500 delegates from Egypt, Arab and European countries.

Most of the attendants are surgeons but about 40% and medical physicians who are mainly interested in hepatology and gastroenterology.

The society has interest in both medical and surgical aspects of gastroenterology and hepatology and special interest in Digestive Oncology and Liver Transplantation.

Many international figures usually invited every year to deliver the latest updates within these fields.

More than 30 pharmaceutical and medical equipments companies usually sponsor our medical activities and most of our delegates from outside Egypt.
